

PRIZIM INC. BRINGS GREEN PRACTICES TO ICE

PRIZIM Inc. was selected to expand its role in support of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) Environmental and Sustainability Program. Working through a subcontract with Badger Technical Services and the Federal Occupational Health program, PRIZIM will provide technical and management support to develop and maintain key environmental and sustainability policies, procedures, and programs to further support compliance with federal, state, and local laws and regulations as well as Executive Orders and DHS policies and directives, PRIZIM has been awarded four separate task orders to date in the areas of:

1. Environmental management systems (EMS), sustainability, energy, and greenhouse gas accounting and reduction strategies
2. National Environmental Policy Act policy and program development, training, and execution
3. Environmental compliance audits
4. Environmental compliance assistance

PRIZIM CEO and President Frank Priznar noted, “it is very gratifying and exciting to continue to support the Department of Homeland Security’s Immigration and Customs Enforcement’s environmental and sustainability programs. PRIZIM is pleased to assist ICE’s environmental staff in accomplishing a wide spectrum of goals that will allow ICE to concentrate on its core missions, while maintaining compliance with environmental requirements and sustainability goals.”

Though the majority of PRIZIM’s work will take place at ICE headquarters in Washington, DC, PRIZIM will be conducting environmental compliance audits at ICE facilities in most U.S. states and territories, from Maine to Hawaii. PRIZIM Program Manager, Edgar Deskins, remarked “our aim is to seamlessly integrate sustainability and environmental programs into ICE’s DNA, without distracting from executing their fundamental responsibilities and duties.” PRIZIM will meet this challenge by applying its 16 years of experience providing similar sustainability and environmental mission support to government and private sector clients.
